Each year, the Woolworths Educational Programmes and the MySchool Fund-raising Programme look forward to celebrating World Teachers' Day on 5 October. Their annual Teachers' Day competition provides an opportunity for schools to celebrate this special day and to raise awareness in the school community about the vital role teachers play in the lives of South African children.

School have long supported the upliftment of education in South Africa through a variety of initiatives. This year, Glenhaven Secondary School was chosen as a regional finalist in the competition. The Teachers' Day competition is one that recognises that acknowledgement, respect and appreciation play an important part in motivating and inspiring teachers as they strive to make a difference in young lives. The high stakes prizes are designed to express real gratitude for the teachers who have had an outstanding impact on their learners. Wool-lies believe this competition will inspire greater awareness of, and gratitude for, the role that teachers play in shaping the lives of future generations. Thando Tladi, National Manager for Woolworths Educational Programmes and Events this week informed and congratulated Philip Reddy, principal of Glenhaven

Secondary School in Verulam on being a Regional Finalist for the Teachers' Day competition. Reddy was nominated by Grade 10 A learner Philisa Ngwane who wrote a short motivation about how Mr Reddy touched her life. Her letter was testimony to great work he did and the panel of judges were most impressed by the difference that he made in her life. Jackie Hurdien, KZN Manager for Woolworths Educational Programme, called at Glenhaven Secondary to announce the regional results to the school assembly and offer congratulations. Reddy had previously won the National Teaching Award, KZN Premier Service Excellent Award and AM-

MEN Awards. Reddy thanked Philisa for her entry and went on to thank his family, staff members, SGB, learners and the Verulam community for their support at all times, which was never unwavering. Glenhaven wishes their captain everything of the best for the national finals.

Is your headache a pain in the neck?

Are you tired of endless painkillers treating only your symptoms? Have you established the root cause of your headache? Scientific evidence suggests that many headaches are caused by structures in the neck. More than 90% of headaches can be classified as tension-type, migraine or cervicogenic headaches. If neck and spinal dysfunctions are causing your headaches, chiropractic care is effective in reducing the frequency and severity of these headaches.

To free stiff joints and spinal nerve irritations in the neck and back, gentle specific adjustments, acupuncture, soft tissue massage, electrotherapy are done. For an overall musculoskeletal assessment, contact Dr Surasha Kandhai on 031-5072002.
